

2022 Virtual German Day

German Day Event: Die Kochsendung!

We're happy to introduce this fairly new event, the student-recorded cooking show! We encourage students to take a look at a few of these online, and then get surfing to find just the right German recipe to share. Here are some tips for success:

Level A:

Language Level: German 1 & 2 students

Overall length: 3 Minutes

Format: uploaded .mp4 file (editing allowed, though not required)

File name: KSLevA+LASTNAME

- state your name, level and school and the name of the dish in German
- the recipe should be typical for a region of the German-speaking world— be sure to introduce this
- you should show a shopping list of the ingredients and name each one
- show us the important steps in making the recipe
- tell us what you're doing (in German) at each step. Think about using words like: zuerst, dann, zunächst, etc.
- Choose ich, du, ihr, or "man" as the subject, but then be consistent with this.
- The narrated part (telling) can be edited onto the finished video if you like.

Level B:

Language Level: German 3+ students

Overall length: 4 Minutes

Format: uploaded .mp4 file (must be a "live" show with cooking + German)

File name: KSLevB+LASTNAME

- state your name, level and school and the name of the dish in German
- the recipe should be typical for a region of the German-speaking world
- be sure to mention when this meal is eaten and where it's from
- include specific amounts of each ingredient you're adding:
 - g, kg, Teelöffel, Eßlöffel, etc.
- tell us what you're doing (in German) at each step.
 - Think about using connecting words like: zuerst, dann, zunächst, etc.
 - Incorporate complex stuff like: man, or passive voice, etc.
- show us the important steps in making the recipe
- your narration (telling) should be live, done by you while showing what you are making. Here's where you show off your German! No reading from a screen allowed.
